

Hello Mr. Wingate,

I have read several of your posts on the net and enjoyed them every much. A friend, Angel in Hawaii, e-mailed me some information you shared on the net about protection from ET's.

I have had contact with several groups of ET's. I am still learning to break the ties to them it is not always easy. I thought I broke all ties only to find another group in the wings. My first experience (remembered) was around the age of two years old, I am now 45 years old. My experiences have thought me the groups contacting me are VERY self serving. As I write this a being is trying to talk with me so I am saying NO! HELL NO! Because that is what the experience becomes.

I have been in underground bases. My house is buzzed by black helicopters. My phones are bugged and I am sure this message will be read before you get it. I have had and may still have some kind of control devices implanted in my body. I have had help desolving the devices when I find them. Few people around me know the full extent of my experience, I not sure I remember all of the contacts.

One I had most recently encouraged me to continue to fight for myself control. I was in Payson Arizona with a friend. It was night we had just settled into twin beds and finished our protection prayers. A vibration slight at first come up from under the mobile home. The vibration increased untill it could be felt all around us. I knew what that was. My friend ask me if it was a ship, I answered yes. I could say no more because a beam was controlling my body. With every part of my form, human and soul, I said you will not do this to me. I do not want to go with you. I have free will choice and I choose to stay here. You never even ask now let me go in the name of the great spirit and the universal law of free will choice. I was free, I could move. They left.

I am at the point in my life where I need to talk about all this and help others. My guides have given me the name StarGoldenFeather, and each time I use it I get stronger. Thank you for your time!!

Star